Learn by doing

Phil Avina really does do more in honors' study hall than shuffle books. Mrs. Rychener and David Eicher watch the incubator, which has caused so much excitement in the fifth grade. Jim Short, hall supervisor, classifies Ramon Garcia's "fast walking" as unacceptable running. Mrs. Holland makes learning units of measure look so easy to Craig Beck and Vonda Metzler. Peggy Hoops wishes that Miss Cron would think quarter notes and eighth notes were the same.

Take action to grow

Marlin Gearig, a member of the photo club, concentrates on developing film. A jubilant crowd fills the gym floor after winning a ball game. Kris Bernath and Jim Rufenacht use extra time to do that once-a-year job—cleaning out lockers. Donna Genter finds that yelling is the only way she can get the message across to a group of noisy, impatient ballplayers.

Grow by learning

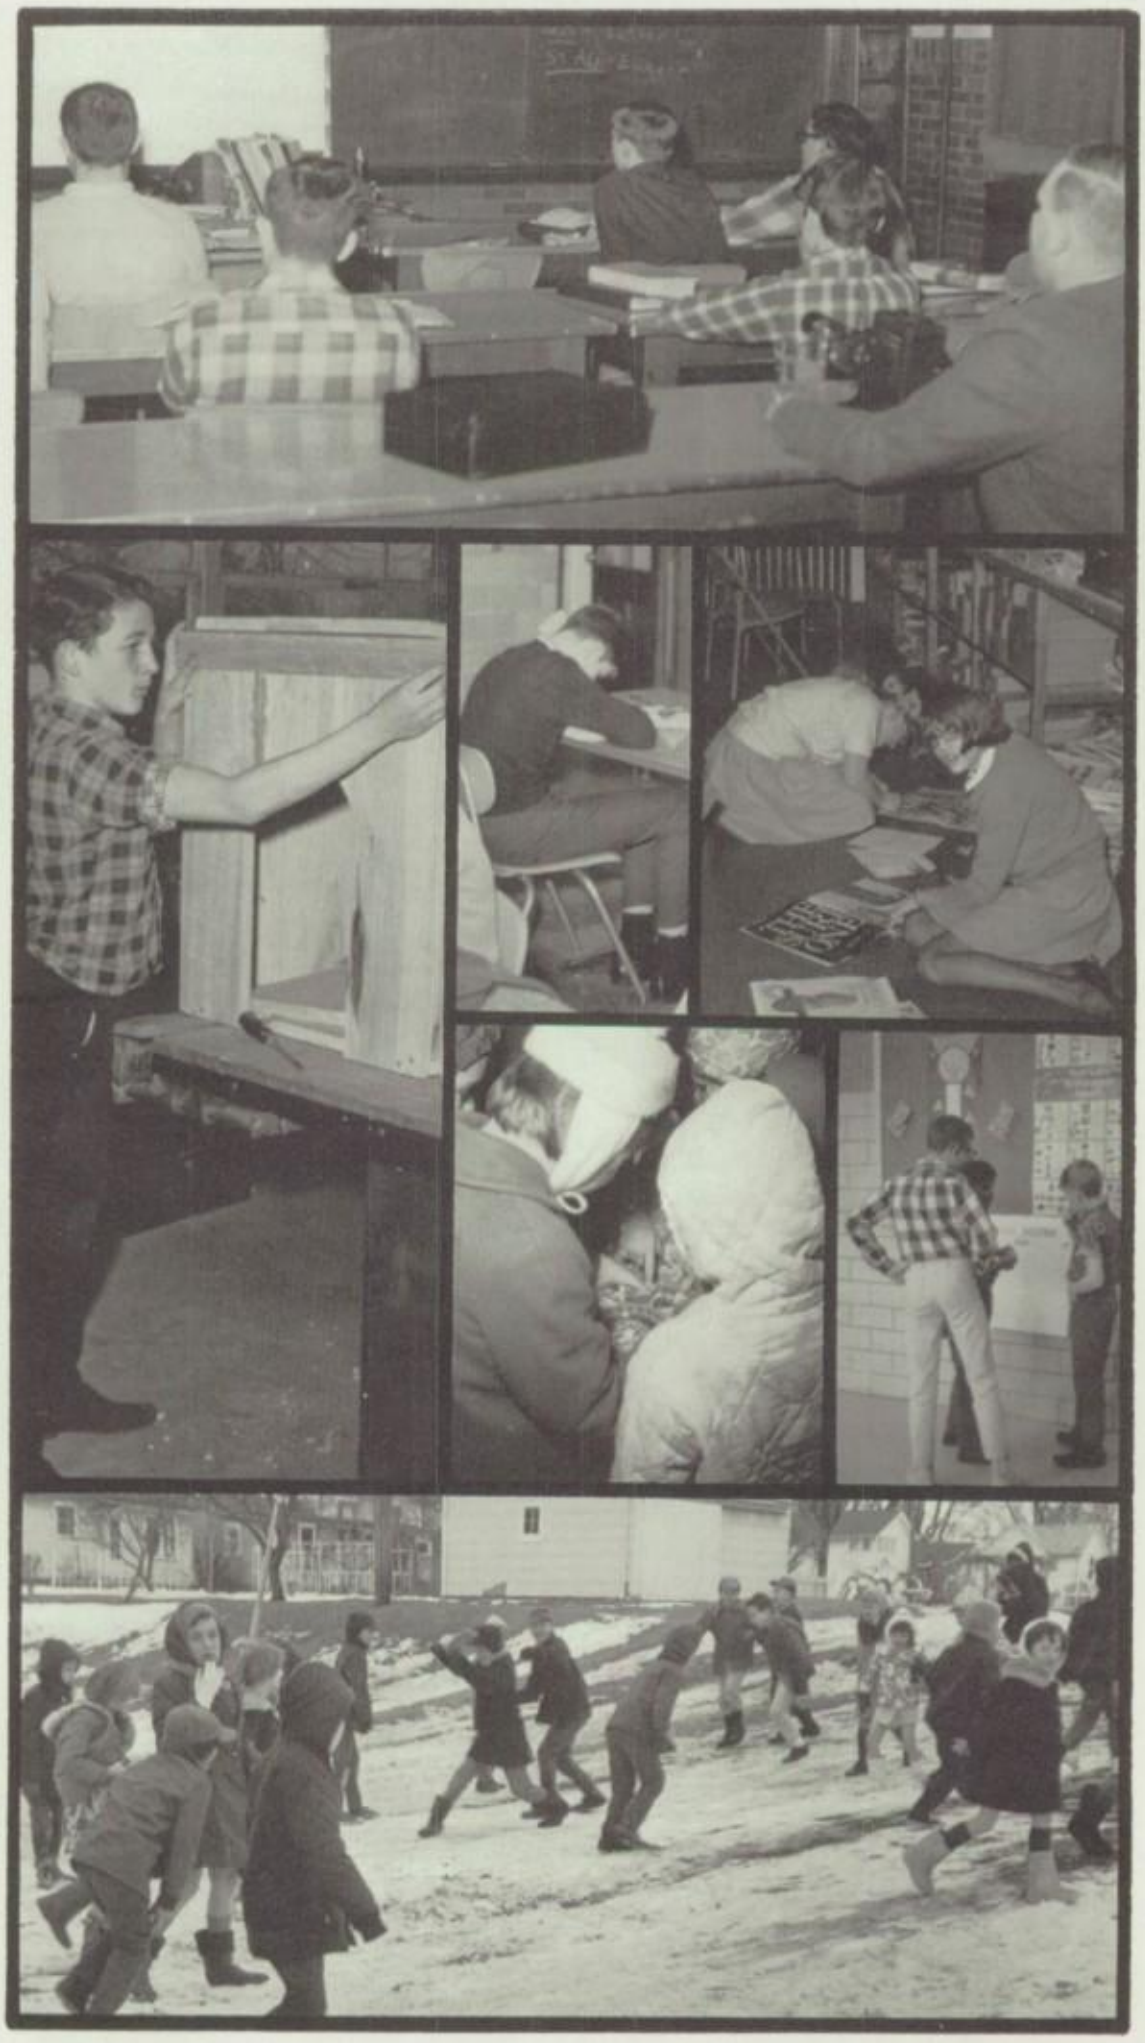
Time to learn



Vo-ag students study farming techniques that may save a corn crop. Robert Fowler knows that certain sizes and shapes of wood put together correctly form a dog house. David Nofziger is convinced that studying is a skill. Lois Eby and Susan Boger learn to judge which resources are vital. Young children enjoy playing educational games. Junior high students check who has applied the best salesmanship tactics. Pupils learn how to avoid the frequent accidents resulting from running and sliding down what teachers call "suicide hill".

Administration seek answers to school problems

As superintendent of the school, Mr. David Lersch also assumes the responsibilities of principal of the elementary department. Now in his fifth year at Pettisville, Mr. Lersch has direct contact with students by teaching senior economics.

Mr. Mark Ray has completed twenty-six years of service at Pettisville School. He began as a political science teacher in 1942 but has been high school principal for the past 16 years.

The three R's rule the office. Mrs. Miriam Ray is secretary to the high school principal; Mrs. Georgia Rupp, to the superintendent of schools; and Mrs. Hazel Rychener serves as assistant secretary to the superintendent of schools. She replaces Mrs. Rupp every Wednesday.

TOP ROW: Mrs. Jeanette Beck, grade 2; Mrs. Valetta Bowers, grade 5; Mrs. Vera Cooley, grade 4; Mrs. Esther Henschen, grade 6; Mrs. Dorothy Holland, grade 2; Mrs. Sue Ann Leininger, grade 3. SECOND ROW: Mrs. Florence Lindley, grade 1; Miss Sadie Miller, grade 4; Mrs. Helen Peugeot, elementary music; Mrs. Florence Porter, kindergarten; Mrs. Linda Robinson, grade 3; Mrs. Elaine Rychener, grade 6.

Elementary teachers help pupils to find answers

Teachers are recognized for long years of service

Teachers represent many of the facets of life students encounter daily. Teachers counsel, discuss, explain, discipline, help, and are human. They are also respected and at times disrespected.

At the first PTO meeting of the year, three teachers were honored for their outstanding years of service. Mr. Lersch congratulates Miss Miller, who was beginning her forty-ninth year. This was Miss Spiess' and Miss Wyse's forty-fourth and fortieth years respectively.

High school teachers aid students in search for knowledge

TOP ROW: Mrs. Roberta Mayer, reading, arithmetic 7-8, Ohio history; Mr. Dencil Miller, driver education, health, physical education, sociology, guidance counselor; Mrs. Marilyn Pickerel, girls' physical education, health, science 8; Mr. David Ripke, arithmetic 8, science survey, general science, biology; Miss Loretta Rupp, librarian, English 8; Mr. Douglas Rychener, world geography, American history, social studies. SECOND ROW: Mrs. Thelma Rychener, English 9-10, speech; Mr. Richard Selgo, history 8, physical education; Mrs. Maryann Thatcher, chemistry, science 8, world history; Miss Sheila Vice, Spanish; Miss Ruth K. Wyse, English 7,11, 12, journalism; Mr. Neil Zimmer, vocational agriculture.

In perfect relaxation, Mr. Rychener checks up on current affairs for his history classes.

Miss Cron pauses while looking at students' grades to check their progress.

Mr. Ripke glances through a textbook as he prepares for class.

First period

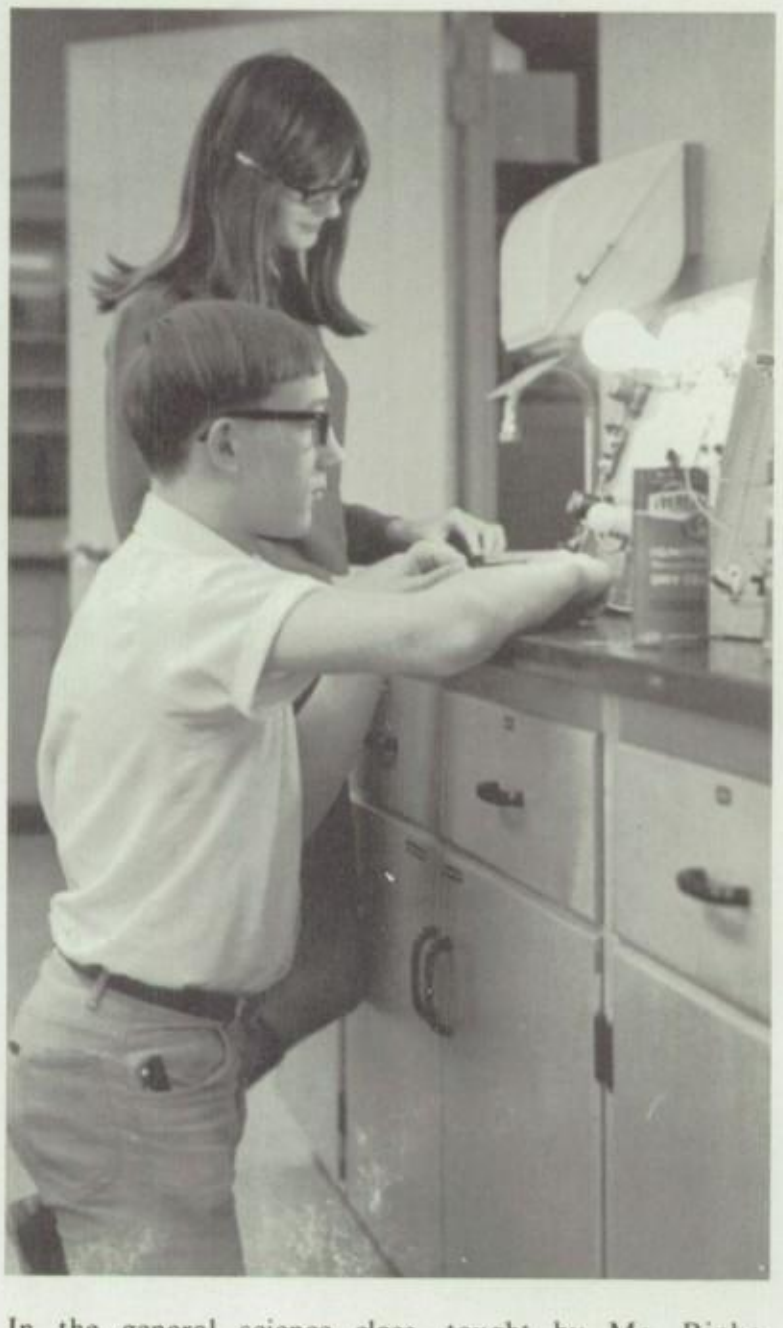
Oscar Ramos, Judy Rufenacht, Thelma Beck, and Laura Suydam passively check their Business English work books. Mrs. Boyer gives answers from her manual.

Zeno Miller concentrates and Steve Graffice and Sharon Hartman study while waiting for the bell. Mr. Ripke teaches this science survey class.

On the table is Chris Rychener, Mr. Kruse's temporary watchman. He is checking on seventh grade industrial arts students Steve Kauffman, Reggie Riegsecker, Mark Blosser, and Nicky Avina.

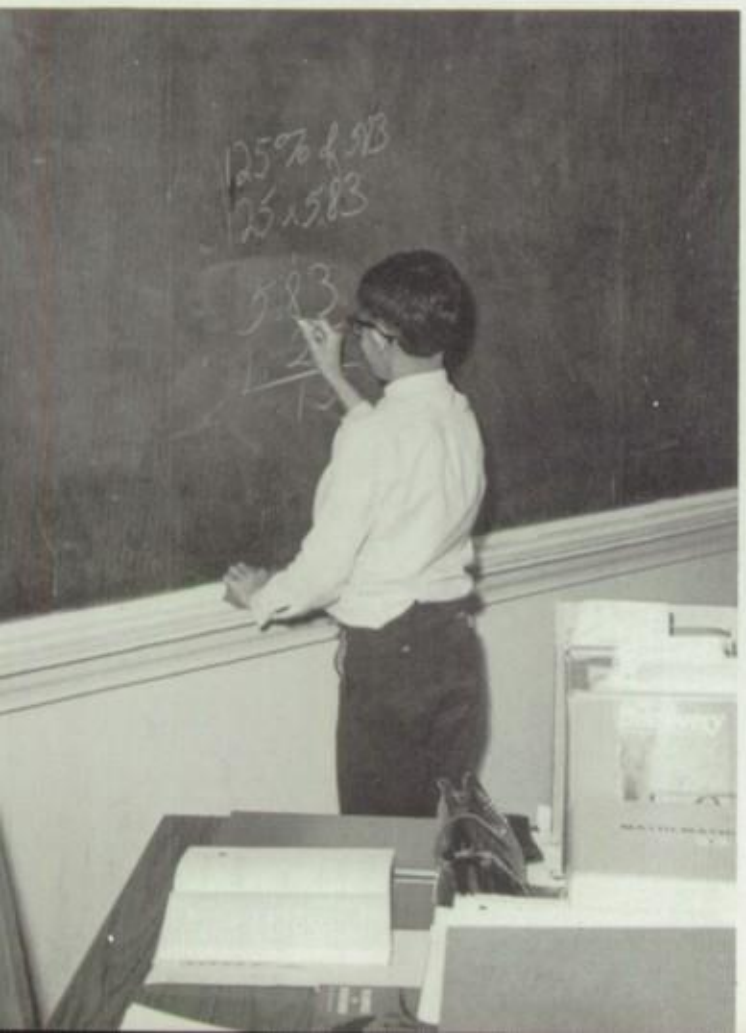
Maybe Bruce Beck doesn't care for studying today. The AMX is more appealing than "The Flicks" in a Junior Scholastic. Mr. Selgo teaches History 8.

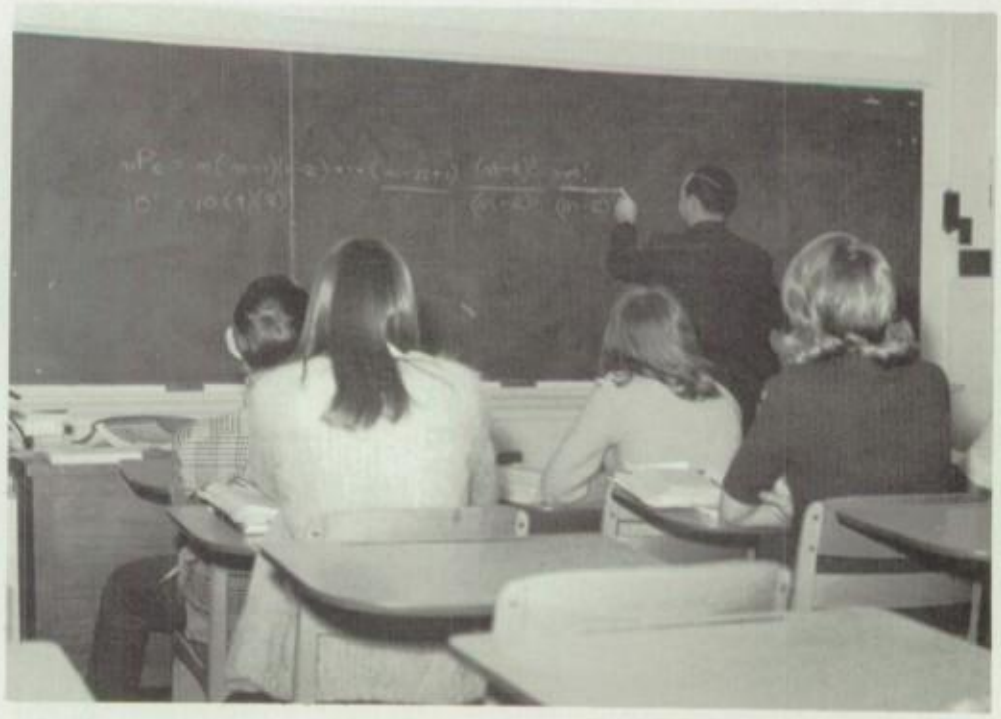
Second period



In the general science class, taught by Mr. Ripke, Leslie Miller and Ron Gerig learn about electric circuits as they study batteries.

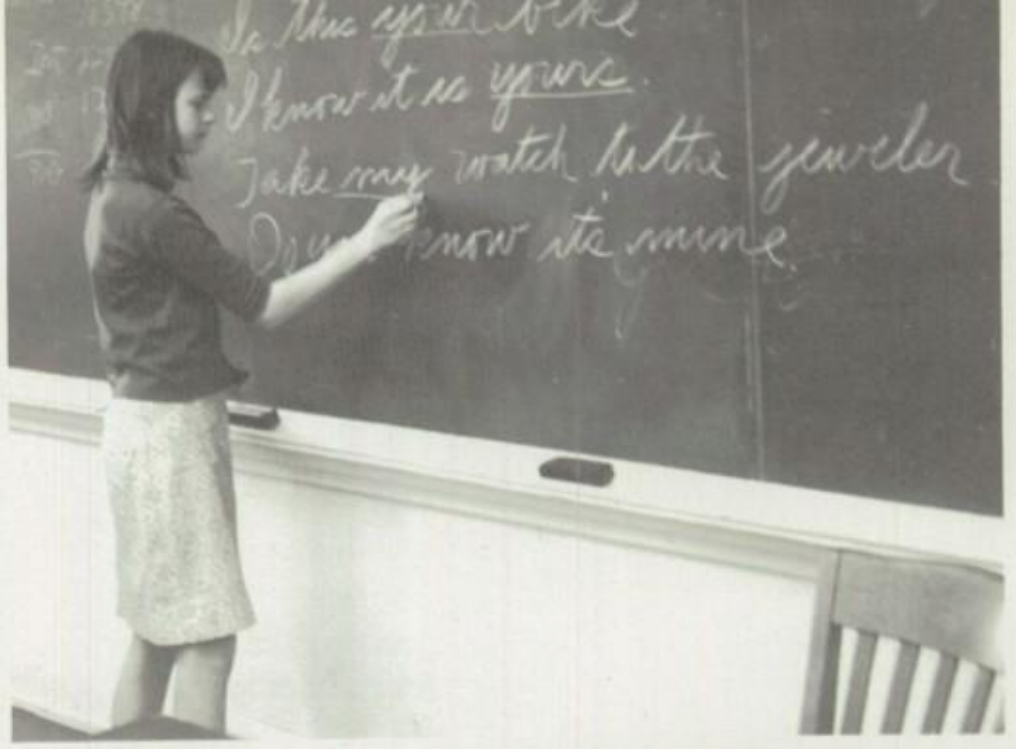
Henry Ramos finds that when one is in seventh grade, arithmetic is not as easy as two plus two. He may need to ask Mrs. Mayer, the teacher, for assistance.



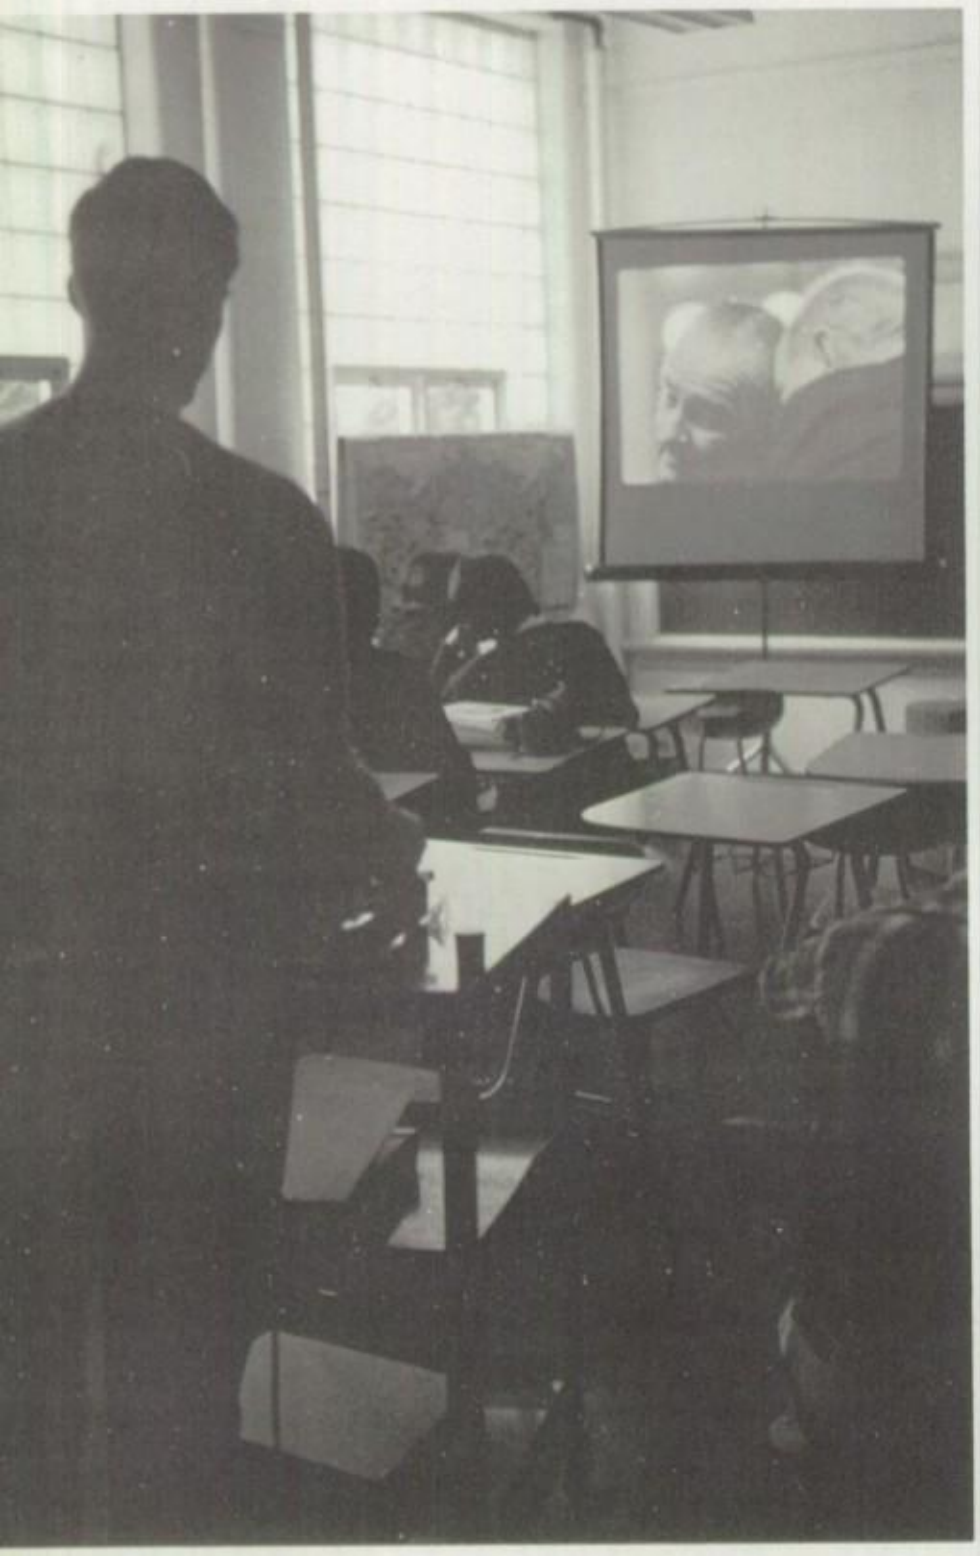


Watching intently as Mr. Brannan explains a difficult equation, the senior math students wonder why they were unable to solve it.

Third period



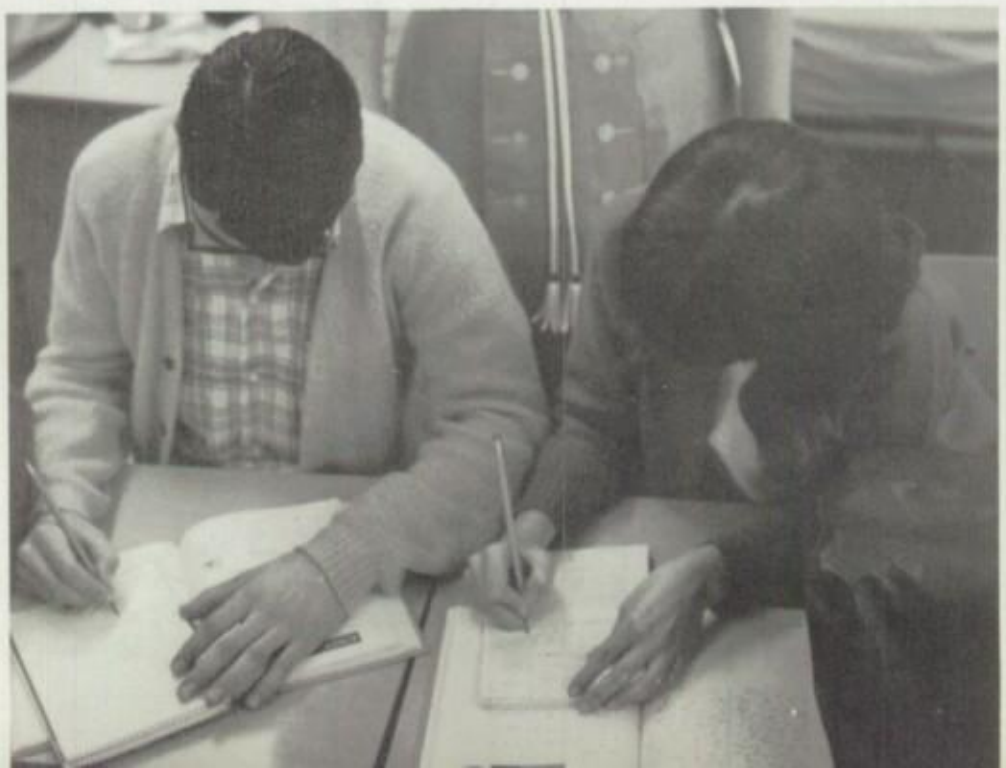
In Mr. Ray's English 7A, Becky Frey learns to identify pronouns.



Mr. Rychener's American history class finds that motion pictures add interest to that difficult subject. Here Keith Moden is showing the film.

Health class students Horacio Jarquin, Jerry Reinking, Ronald Gerig, Ronald Rupp, Al Lantz, and John Avina give their total attention to Mr. Miller's lecture on anatomy.

Personal typing and notetaking is easier when you work together and only half of Mrs. Boyer is watching. Shirley Frey and Lonnie Rychener are two of the 17 students taking this new course.



Miss Rupp's smile shows that Dianne Briskey needn't be worried by her grade 8 English test. Others are Vicki King, Diane Genter, Chris Rupp.

Mr. Lersch, with his arm resting on his brief case, shows economic students Phil Avina, Jim Short, Donna Genter, Tom Wagler, and Marilyn Nafziger the mistakes they made on their economics test.

Fourth period

Junior girls, Sharon Hartman, Lynda Ramos, Lauranne DeWit, and Barb Briskey, can act like he-men. Exercise is routine in Mrs. Pickerel's phys ed.

The fine acting of Mary Lou Fricke, Bonnie Johnson, and Monica Rupp entertains Mrs. Mayer's reading class.

Fifth period

Miss Wyse listens attentively as a book report is given in American literature. Members of the group are, from the left: Laura Suydam, Rosie Ramon, Carma Aeschliman, and Lauranne DeWit.

To increase vocabulary, Mrs. Rychener's classes played Password each Friday. As Keith Hull and Dale Hartman listen for clues, Zeno Miller tries to convey the word, palpable, to Phil Avina. Margaret Rice is MC as one section of speech shows its proficiency.

As usual, the gentlemen have beat the ladies to the lunch line. Friday is Ladies Day but that doesn't seem to make any difference to hungry males.

Dead, ugly, fungus proves to be quite interesting to Gene Short and Luther Gautsche as they check it out under a microscope. Mr. Ripke teaches this biology class of sophomores.

Sixth period

Knowing how and doing are two different things as Mrs. Lind's Freshman home ec class discovers. FRONT: Bonnie King, Nancy Graber. MIDDLE: Pansy King, Darlene Short. BACK: Luanne Nofziger.

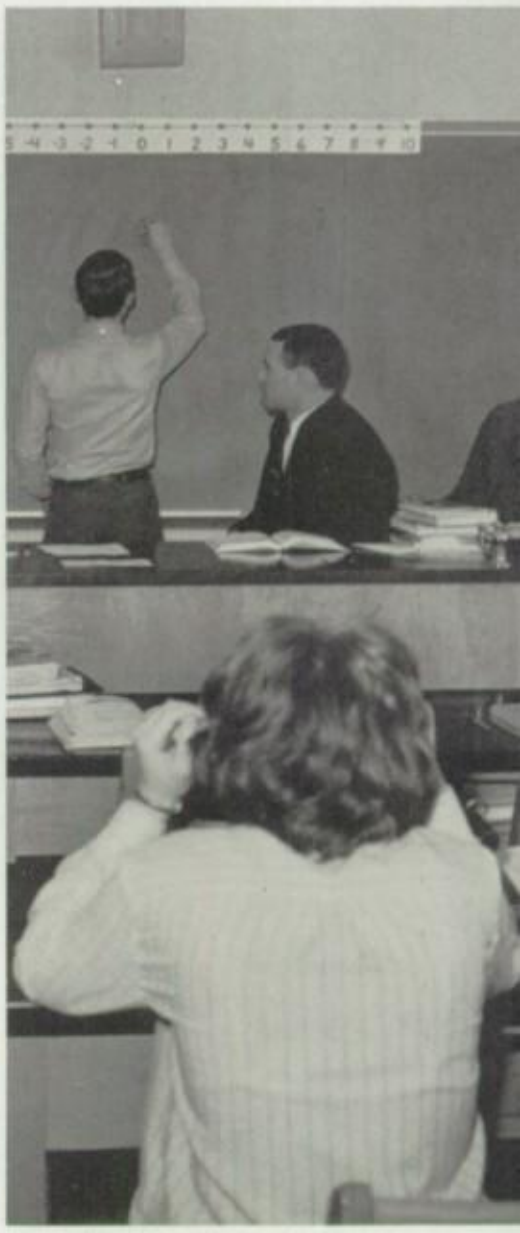
Seventh graders concentrate on an Ohio history reading assignment. Mrs. Mayer remains in the room to insure a quieter atmosphere.

If these students think they're hungry, what about the others who have forty-five minutes to wait! The standees include Nancy Graber, Kathy Miller, and Debbie Miller.

Mrs. Pickerel's eighth grade science class gains practical knowledge through experiments. LEFT TO RIGHT: Gerald King, Randy Grieser, Richard Rufenacht, Mary Lou Fricke, and James Roth.

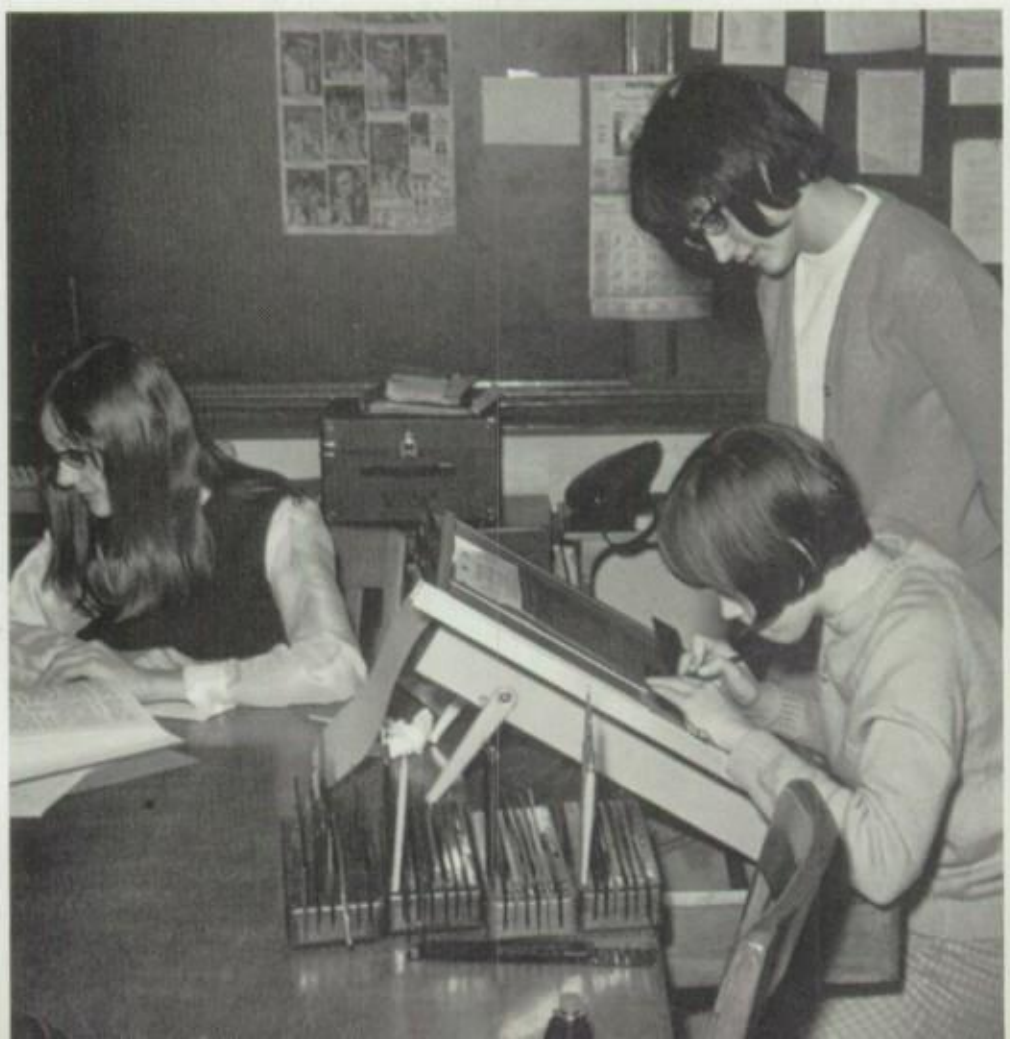
Seventh period

In Mr. Zimmer's vo-ag class, Roger Weber and Corwin Riegsecker learn about an M International tractor.



During Mr. Ripke's eighth grade math class Kenny Nafziger and Len Nafziger learn about the number line while Jenny Graffice watches.

Mr. Rychener uses films in world geography to create interest in other countries. But only he can show a film without a reel.



While Leslie Miller seeks inspiration from previous issues of Pet Echoes, Jo Liechty and Judy Oyer mark the headlines, using the scope. This year, journalism, which is taught by Miss Wyse, was a laboratory class.

Eighth period

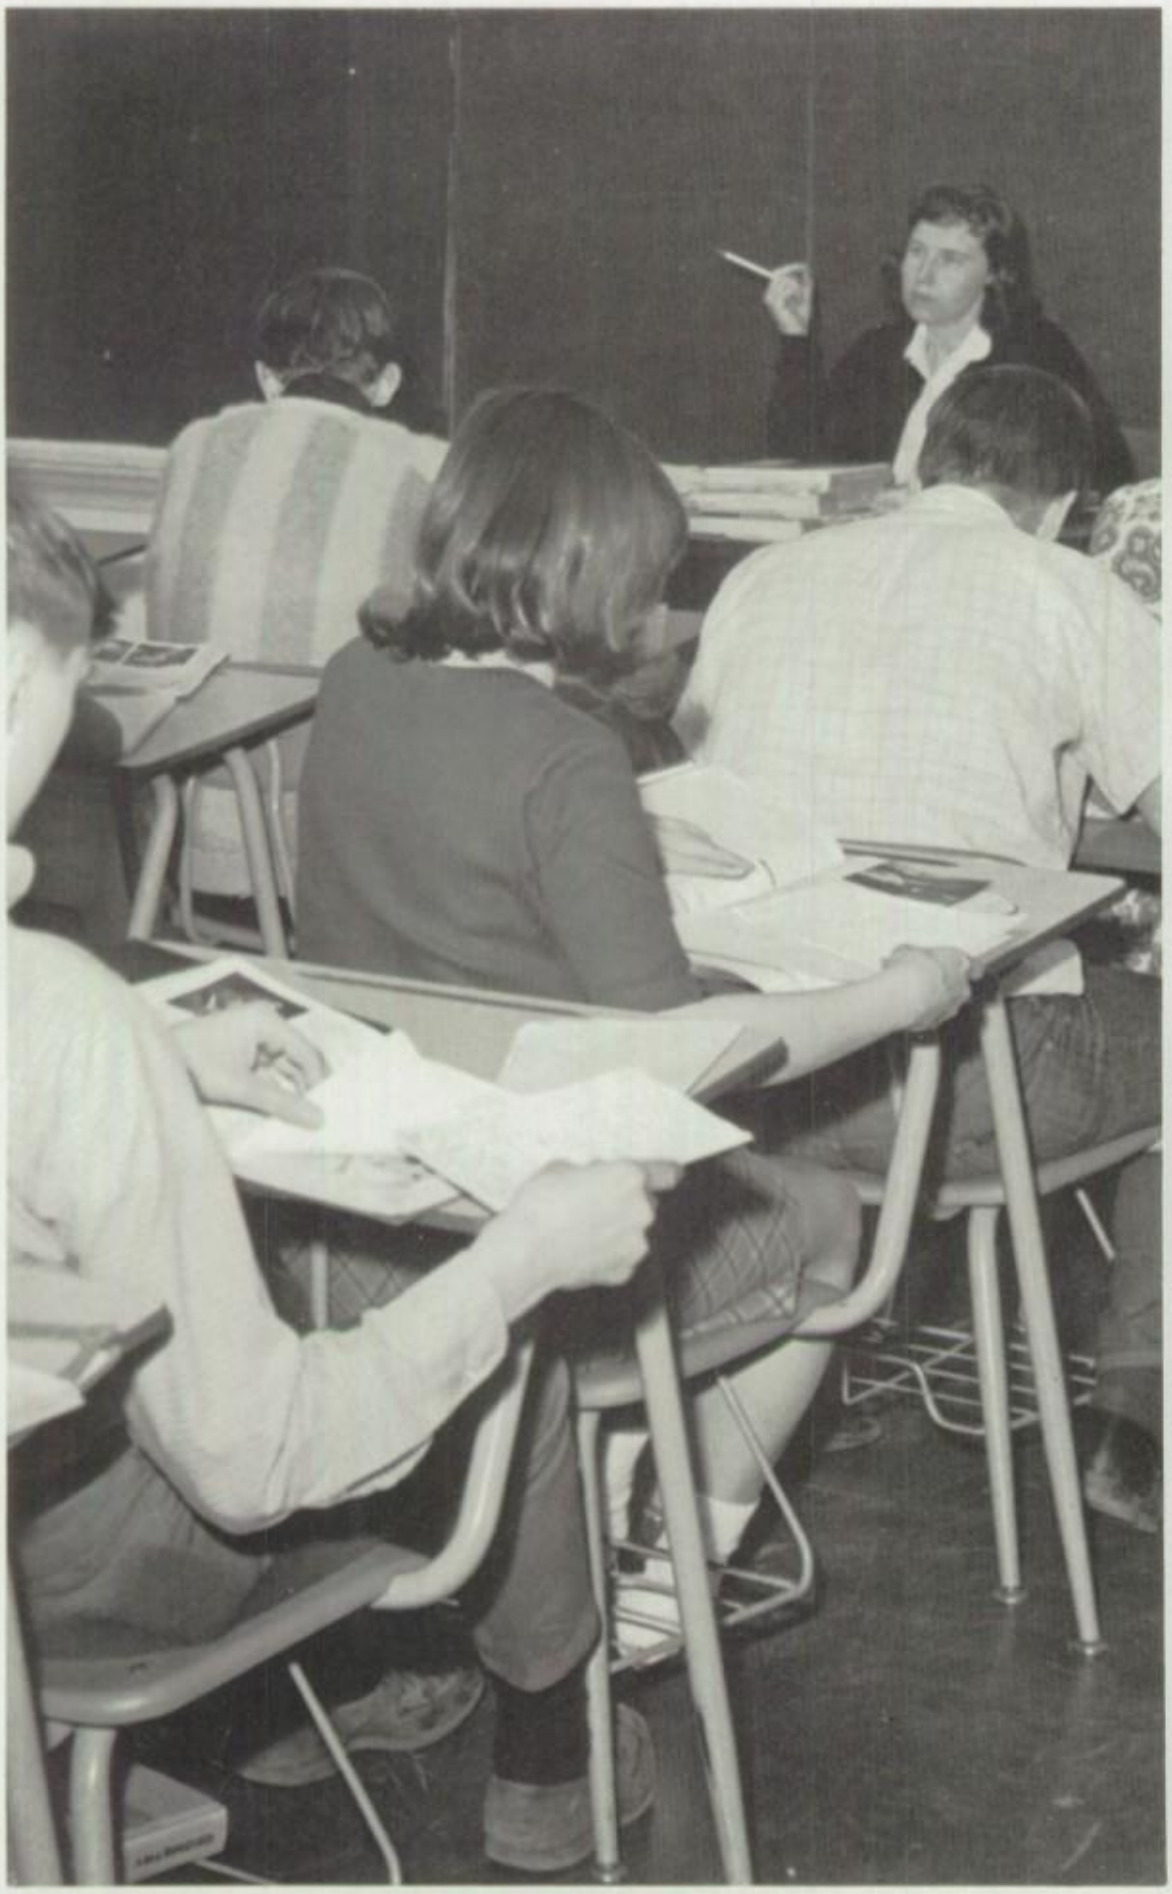
Mr. Miller shows driver's ed students Joette Altman, Mary Helen Ramos, and Mary Carr how to check an oil dip stick.

In eighth grade phys ed, taught by Mr. Selgo, Carlos Estrada and his teammates, Daryl Aschliman, Keith Meyers, and Gary Meyers, enjoy a game of volley ball.

As Mr. Brannan looks on, the geometry students try in vain to find an error in Kathy Frey's proof.

Social studies is an easy subject for Charlotte Nafziger and Andrew Rice when they know the answers to Mr. Rychener's questions.

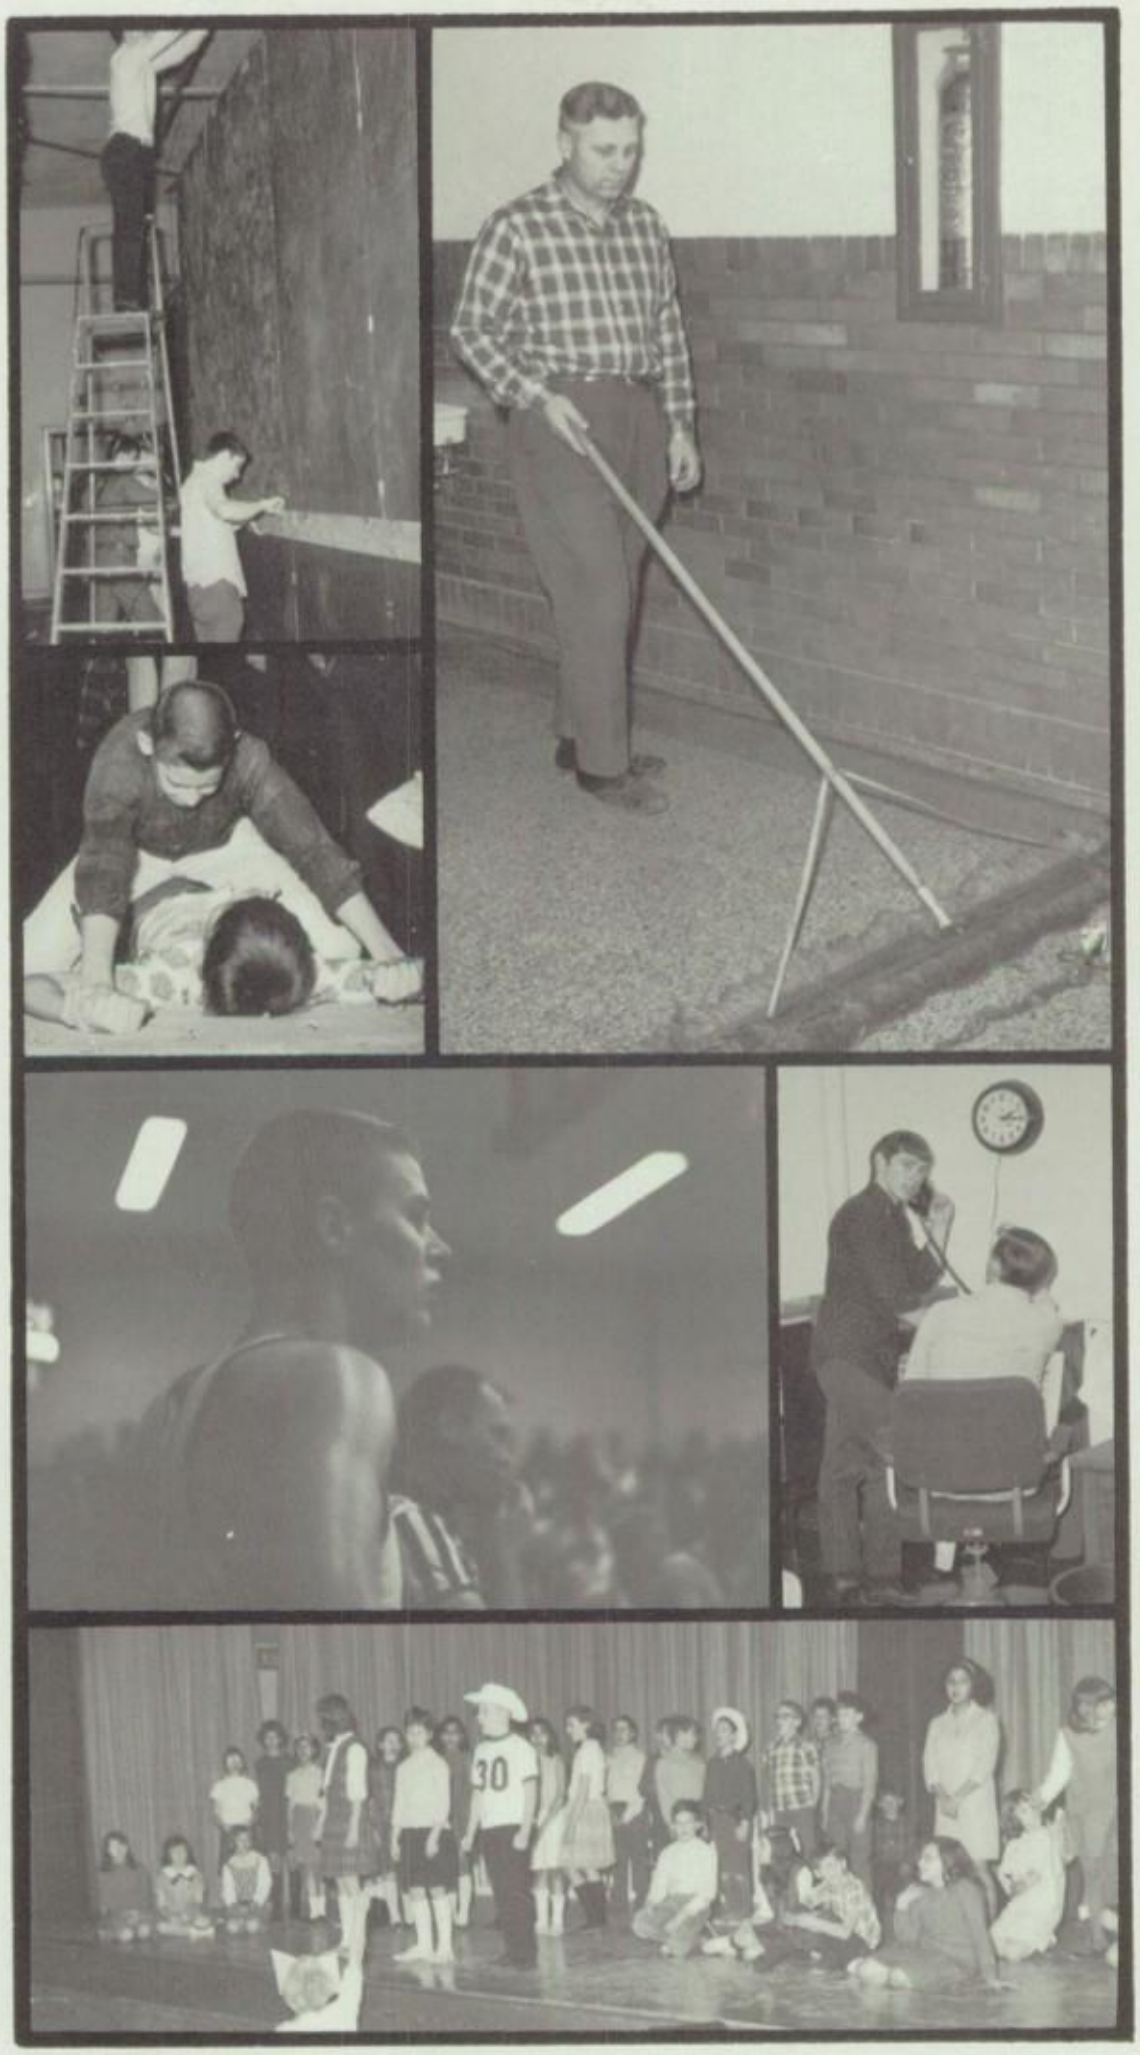
In chemistry, Mrs. Thatcher checks to see whether Steve Lauber, Kathy King, and Kris Bernath are following the right process for generating CO^2.



Ninth period

Mrs. Thatcher uses hand motions for emphasis during a lecture to the world history class. Mr. Miller obviously enjoys talking to his civics class on one of his favorite topics, income tax. Miss Vice prepares to record a dialog for the Spanish class. Jane Kauffman, Grace Jarquin, and Kathy King pay close attention. Mrs. Boyer watches typing 2 students, Mary Sue Rupp, Becky Huber, and Judy Rufenacht, as Richard Richer, of typing 1 erases a mistake.

Time to take action



Senior boys set up the screen for the travelog on Spain. Maynard Burkholder cleans what students dirty. Richard Rufenacht hopes he can count to ten before Jeff Nafziger throws him off. What a grueling game for Charlie Nafziger! Stan Grieser reports FFA news. Operetta practice is fun!

school activities

The Student Council set up the intramural schedule, arranged assemblies, and wrote new cheerleading selection rules. These student representatives are gradually having more influence in controlling student regulations.

TC sponsored many voluntary contests for high school students. Included were school spirit, foul shooting and chess contests.

Student Council Members Lonnie Rychener, Joyce Eicher, Phil Avina, and Mary Lou Rodriguez designed and wrote a curriculum guide and handbook to familiarize junior high students with the school program and opportunities.

Lariat and Pet Echoes staffs relate news

The journalism staff, headed by Marilyn Nafziger, editor, and her assistant, Jane Fricke, won a superior rating from the Northwest Ohio Journalism Association for the school newspaper, Pet Echoes. This year, the staff met two periods a day to work on the newspaper, making it unnecessary to work regularly Monday evenings.

On the other hand, the Lariat staff worked diligently every Tuesday after school, preparing the yearbook. This staff, made up of the Honor Society members, was headed by Donna Genter as editor-in-chief and Duane Yoder, associate editor.

Clubs provide pictures for fun and education

When teachers want to supplement their classes with films, Projection Club members prove to be handy people to have around. It is the members' duty to run the projectors. Photo Club members spend much time in the dark room developing and experimenting with pictures. One such picture could be seen on a locker door. It was a large eye.

Jane Kauffman makes a lovely model. A style show was the high point of the biennial FHA banquet. The girls modeled spring clothes from Lee's Fashion Shop.

The Future Homemakers displayed their domestic skills several times this year by entertaining the teachers at a tea and giving a tiny tot party for their younger sisters and brothers. Also, a spring banquet was given, to which each member invited a mother and a friend. The FFA boys served the meal.

FFA and FSA pursue interests

To gain experience in crop growing, the FFA boys raised corn as a money-making project. They competed with Archbold in a pest hunt. At the District Contest their judging team placed second. The team members judged fat cattle, market hogs, breeding gilts, and dairy cattle. A farm survey was also conducted.

The FSA had one particularly interesting meeting at which Robert Easley, a high school senior from Defiance, spoke on UFO's. Robert has been recognized as an authority on the subject. Although a few of the more industrious members of the club did take extra time to do a scientific project, all the members were not required to complete one.

Robert Easley, speaker at a special FSA meeting, uses pictures as evidence to confirm his beliefs that UFO's do exist. Mr. Easley thinks that UFO's are aircraft from other planets.

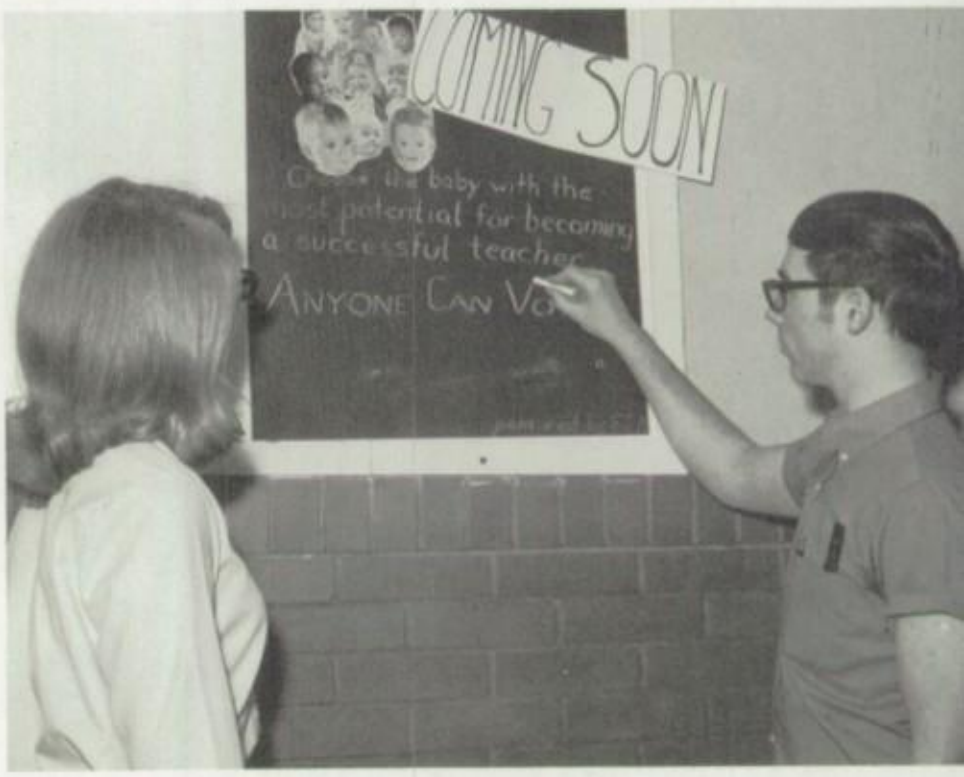
A Spanish club was organized this year with the name, El Mundo De Espanol. The menbers planned numerous activities, including Christmas caroling at the homes of Spanish-speaking people, and having a party with the Ridgeville club. The adviser, Miss Vice, changed her name at Easter time to that of Mrs. Joe Ramos.

Spanish Club and FTA benefit future teachers

Jim Short and Bev Gearig finish a poster announcing the FTA contest to identify faculty baby pictures.



As usual, the FTA members substituted for teachers when needed. In addition, each member taught the class of his choice on turn-about day. At Christmas the members decorated a Christmas tree and had parties for the special classes. To add a little life to the last week of school, the FTA sponsored a baby picture contest. The same week, they showed the movie, Mr. Roberts.

Nona Britsch and Cheryl Thierry take their turns in operating the Sugar Shack.

Among other activities this year, the choir combined with the Archbold Choir, the Defiance College Choir, and Archbold Community Choir to give a spectacular performance under the direction of Dr. Charles D. Hirt, director of choral music at the University of Southern California. They also gave proof of their ability to sing by receiving a I in state competition. The girls' glee and boys' glee also did well in competition, as witnessed by the superior rating in state competition and the excellent rating received by the boys' glee in district competition. These groups also pooled their money to give several gifts to Miss Cron during the year as tokens of their deep appreciation for her work and concern on their behalf.

Cheerleaders create spirit

The mascot, reserve cheerleaders, varsity cheerleaders, and one varsity player poke fun at the wooden Falcon before its trial and death sentence.

The cheerleaders worked hard this year to get spirited response from students. Varsity and reserve cheerleaders arranged pep meetings ranging from "smear them" with shaving cream to "lick them" with suckers. All the cheerleaders tried to be examples of good sportmanship and encourage students to be courteous to other teams and schools.

Mr. Brannan coached the junior varsity through a remarkable season of 16 wins and three losses. Although the boys remained undefeated for 15 straight games, they were unable to score a victory when they met the Archbold Blue Streaks. Since the games they lost were close, they have little to be ashamed of.

Juniors bring the story of Tom Jones to life

Ed Roth, Fred Rychener, Lynette Rufenacht, Lauranne DeWit, Barbara Briskey, Neil Rupp, and Jim Lantz weep over 'dying' Duane Yoder.

As her father, Leroy Nafziger, listens, Cara Aschliman scolds Renee Rupp.

Parisian Enchantment casts spell

From under the gazebo a smiling King Lonnie Rychener and Queen Shirley Frey can be seen. Lonnie and Shirley were chosen by the Junior class to reign over the banquet.

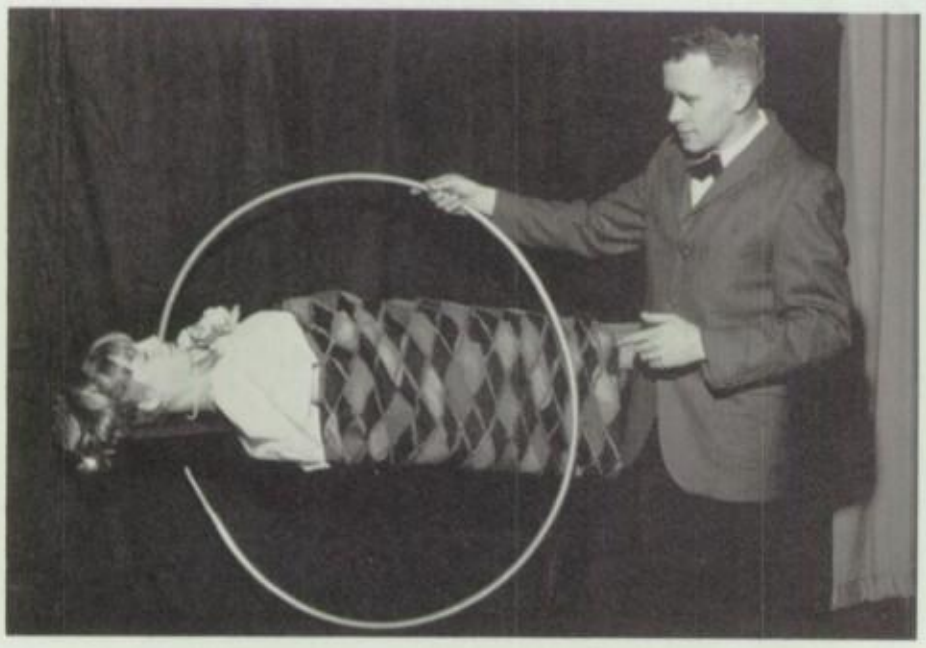
The Junior-Senior banquet, Parisian Enchantment, cast a spell on all. The romantic setting was accented by its beautiful garden walks, a bubbling fountain, sidewalk artists, night street scenes, and the Eiffel Tower. The evening's festivities included a program by the Defiance College Madrigal singers and a magic act. The group saw the movie, The Happiest Millionaire, in Archbold and went to a party in Wauseon. Mr. Dencil Miller added zest to the program as master of ceremonies when he distributed among the seniors, articles which had been found in their lockers.

In the garden, Keith Hull and Becky Huber admire each other while Bev Gearig and Phil Avina admire the fountain.

Brad Miller and Joyce Liechty pause before serving.

Peggy Ledyard and Keith Moden soak up the romantic atmosphere set off by the Eiffel Tower and the dim lights.

Leisurely wandering through the garden are Dan Oakley, Margaret Rice, Keith Hull, Becky Huber, Gene Wyse, Joyce Eicher, Chris Rychener, the artist, and Marilyn Graber.



"Can she really float?" Mr. J pulls a hoop around Sandy Stuckey to prove that she really is lying on air.

Senior class officers were Lonnie Rychener, president; Jim Short, vice-president; Linda Klopfenstein, secretary; Joyce Eicher, treasurer. The class sold basketball programs, had a travelog on Spain, and a pancake supper for money-making projects. Their play, "Song of Bernadette" was the last class play directed by Mrs. Rychener. These events of a meaningful year led up to the climax of graduation and the Senior trip.

How about more? Verle Rufenacht offers pancakes to Mrs. Dencil Miller and her daughters, Karen and Judy.

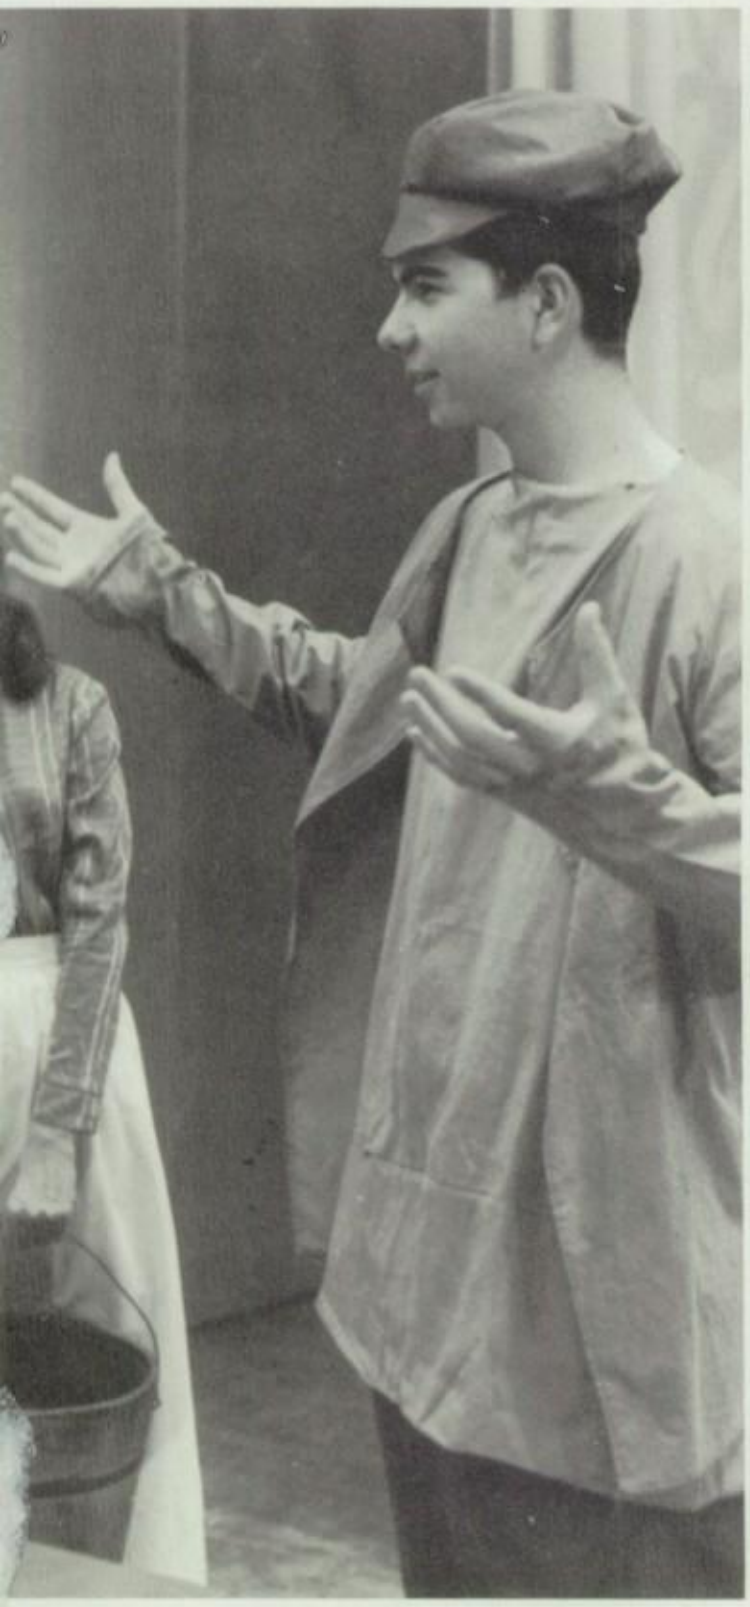
Seniors relive the miracle of The Song of Bernadette

The seniors gave Franz Werfel's Song of Bernadette in the spring as their class play. This is the touching story of a young girl's vision of the Virgin Mary—which at first brought ridicule to Bernadette. However, the truth of her vision was later proved and all who believed were transformed. Mary Lou Rodriguez portrayed Bernadette. Jim Short was Dean Peyramale, who refused for a long time to accept the miracle of the vision.

Sister Vauzous, Marilyn Nafziger, seriously doubted the sincerity of her former student, Bernadette Soubirous, until the day when Bernadette revealed to her that she was suffering from a fatal illness.

Bernadette, surrounded by friends, family, and ridiculing disbelievers, talks with the Lady of Lourdes.

Important members of the community try to figure out a way in which to solve the problems brought about by the uproar Bernadette causes among the people.



TOP. The schoolroom of Mother Vauzous is interrupted by giggling young girls.

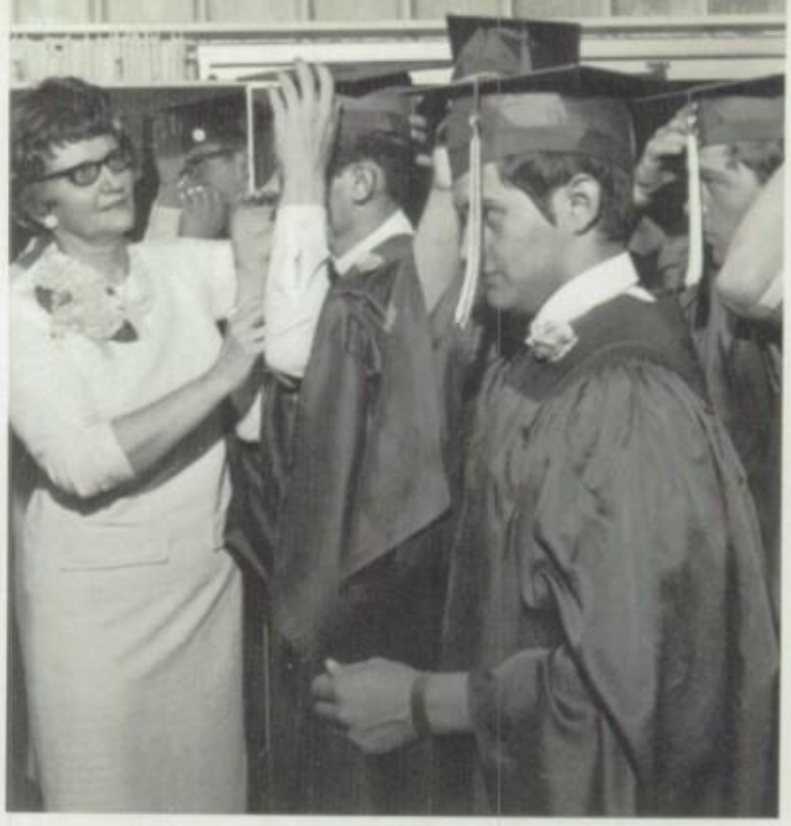
ABOVE. "There is a spring!" The healing water brings about the miraculous cure of a dying infant.

The Dean feels assured that with the failure of the Lady to make the roses bloom the matter of miracles will vanish.

Francois Soubirous, Lonnie Rychener, tells his wife Louise, Donna Genter, and his daughters, Marie and Bernadette, all about his new job.

Seniors bid farewell to yesterday and greet tomorrow with courage and hope

Graduation marked the end of an old way of life and the beginning of a new. Rev. Dale Wyse was the Baccalaureate speaker. Donna Genter and Randy King gave their Commencement addresses on "Goals." Utilizing their class colors, the seniors wore pink roses on their purple robes. On their class trip, the seniors saw historymaking Resurrection City in Washington D.C.



The usual joking goes on as three senior boys ask Mrs. Rychener if their caps are straight. LEFT: Mrs. Rychener, Keith Miller, Oscar Ramos, Ed Waidelich.

Eight students received trophies at Commencement for maintaining a high B+ average during four years of high school. LEFT: Becky Liechty, Phil Avina, Stephanie Miller, Donna Genter, Jim Short, Shirley Frey, Randy King, Jeanne Nofziger. Donna Genter received the Citizenship Award, which is the highest award given to a senior student.

Joyce Eicher and Phil Avina step over a threshold, entering a new and more advanced aspect of their lives.

Kermit King and Judy Rufenacht read the class motto before Commencement and contemplate the personal meaning it has for each of them.

Service is watchword of busy personnel

A useful, bright yellow addition to the service department, this new van transports children of the special classes and kindergartners.

Custodians Maynard Burkholder, Mrs. Mabel Burkholder, Mrs. Helen Rychener, Mrs. Augusta Plassman, and William Lantz Jr. proved to be not only an efficient cleaning crew but also a big help to students.

Charles Kauffman, Wayne Zaerr, Mrs. Lucille Zaerr, Mrs. LeAnna Gautsche, Mrs. Phyllis Miller, and Charles Murphy drove their routine bus routes at least twice a day. While Dwight Porter was in the hospital recovering from a sudden illness, Mrs. Miller substituted for him.

INTERNATIONAL EVENTS

1. British hippies claim that their aim is different from that of American hippies. . . they don't want to "drop out" of society, but to stay in and change it.

2. French President Charles DeGaulle stirred up a lot of controversy during 1967—here he explains why he feels Britain should not be a Common Market member.

3. Soldiers of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division rest atop Hill 1338 following a fierce battle with the North Vietnamese for the hill in the Dak To area.

4. Israeli soldiers fly their flag from a mosque in the Sinai desert captured by the Israelis during the short-lived Arab-Israeli war in June of 1967.
